

The History Press, Inc.
18 Percy Street | Charleston, SC 29403
P: 843.577.5971 | F: 843.577.6712 | www.historypress.net

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE | May 2008

Contact: Ben Gibson | benjamin.gibson@historypress.net

The History Press Releases
Peekskill's African American History:
A Hudson Valley Community's Untold Story

By John J. Curran

CHARLESTON, SC: The first African Americans of Peekskill had no choice in making the Hudson Valley their home. What they did choose was what kind of home to make of it—choices that were to shape both their community and the course of American history. Meet the African American sharpshooter who helped swing the balance of the American Revolution, revisit a stop on the underground railroad and catch a glimpse of Paul Robeson through the tumult of the 1949 concert riots. Then follow John J. Curran beyond the headlines and behind the scenes as he seeks out the people whose quiet, consistent contributions were no less dynamic in bringing about social change.

To request a review copy, contact Ben Gibson.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

John J. Curran is a Peekskill High School graduate from the Class of 1963. He has been Peekskill's official historian since 1994. He is the author of eight published books, including Peekskill: A Photographic History (Arcadia, 2005). He composed the narrative and sequence for the historic videos Peekskill in Perspective and Peekskill on Postcards and edited and published My Memories of 100 African American Peekskill Families, written by Ethel Jackson (1997).

Peekskill's African American History: A Hudson Valley Community's Untold Story
ISBN: 978-1-59629-484-4 • Format: 160 pages • Price: $19.99 • Release date: June 2008

The History Press, based in Charleston, South Carolina and Salem, Massachusetts, brings a new way of thinking to history publishing by producing regional history titles by excellent historians and striving to make these books available to a wide audience.

###